

Timothy M. McDonald
VP-Finance & Accounting, Global Taxes
The Procter & Gamble Company

Tim McDonald is the Vice President – Finance & Accounting, Global Taxes at The Procter & Gamble Company. He has been with Procter & Gamble since 2003. Responsible for all matters pertaining to corporate income and transactional taxes (VAT, GST and Sales/Use Taxes) globally, including tax policy positions involving legislation, planning, compliance and audit defense. Supervising an approximate 210 person global tax function located in 32 countries. The tax function also has responsibility for technical support and audit defense role for various other taxes (including for example; customs valuation matters, excise, and property taxes).

Prior to joining Procter & Gamble, he was the head of Tax at Baxter International Inc. and a Senior Tax Manager at Deloitte & Touche.

He has a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a law degree from Wayne State University Law School.